Claims

Claims 1-73 are pending. Claims 1-73 are rejected as detailed below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 10 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Pub No US 2005/0055518 issued to Hochberg et al (hereafter Hochberg).

Claims 1, 10 and 19:

Hochberg discloses:

transmitting at least one request, from the at least one host to the at least one storage system, requesting that the at least one storage system store a data unit until at least the expiration of a retention period, wherein the at least one request identifies the retention period indirectly by including information that enables the at least one storage system to determine the retention period [abstract]

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2-4, 6-8, 11-13, 15-17, 20 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hochberg in view of Pub No US 2005/0076293 issued to Beresnevichiene (hereafter Beresnevichiene).

Claims 2, 11, 20:

Hochberg discloses the elements of claim 1/10/19 as noted above but does not disclose wherein the information that enables the at least one storage system to determine the retention period is information identifying a retention class to which the data unit belongs with at least one other data unit. Beresnevichiene discloses wherein the information that enables the at least one storage system to determine the retention period is information identifying a retention class to which the data unit belongs with at least one other data unit [paragraph 7]. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Hochberg to include wherein the information that enables the at least one storage system to determine the retention period is information identifying a retention class to which the data unit belongs with at least one other data unit for the purpose of adopting a convenient system for deciding when to delete a particular type of document [paragraph 7].

Art Unit: 2161

Claims 3, 12 and 21:

The combination of Hochberg and Beresnevichiene discloses the elements of claims 1,2/10/19, 20 as noted above and furthermore disclose wherein the data unit has content and the act (A) comprises transmitting a request that includes, within the content of the data unit, the information that enables the at least one storage system to determine the retention period [abstract]

Claims 4 and 13:

The combination of Hochberg and Beresnevichiene discloses the elements of claims 1-3/10-12 as noted above and furthermore discloses transmitting a second request, from the at least one host to the at least one storage system, requesting that the at least one storage system modify the retention period of the retention class [Fig 6]

Claims 6 and 15:

The combination of Hochberg and Beresnevichiene discloses the elements of claims 1-4/10-13 as noted above and furthermore discloses wherein the second request is a request to increase the retention period of the retention class [Hochberg, paragraph 23]

Claims 7 and 16:

The combination of Hochberg and Beresnevichiene discloses the elements of claims 1-4 as noted above and furthermore discloses wherein the second request comprises an event command indicating the occurrence of an event [Hochberg, paragraph 23].

Art Unit: 2161

Claims 8 and 17:

The combination of Hochberg and Beresnevichiene discloses the elements of claims 1-4 and 7 as noted above and furthermore discloses wherein the event command does not specify the manner in which the retention period of the retention class is to be reduced. Official Notice is taken that per Applicant's specification performing the reduction of the retention period in any suitable manner would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art. The ordinary skilled artisan would have been motivated to perform the above in any suitable manner because the process was not critical.

Claims 5, 9, 14 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the combination of Hochberg and Beresnevichiene and further in view of Pub No US 2005/0188248 issued to O'Brien et al (hereafter O'Brien).

Claims 5 and 14:

The combination of Hochberg and Beresnevichiene discloses the elements of claims 1-4/10-13 as noted above but does not disclose wherein the second request is a request to reduce the retention period of the retention class. O'Brien discloses immediately deleting a file if needed [paragraph 112]. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the combination of Hochberg and Beresnevichiene to include wherein the second request is a request to reduce the retention period of the retention class as taught by O'Brien for the purpose of immediately deleting a file for security reasons [paragraph 112]

Art Unit: 2161

Claims 9 and 18:

The combination of Hochberg, Beresnevichiene and O'Brien discloses the elements of claims 1-4/10-13 as noted above and furthermore discloses wherein the second request specifies that the retention period of the retention class be reduced and the manner in which the length of the retention period of the retention class is to be reduced [O'Brien, paragraph 112]

Examiner notes that claims 22-73 can be rejected on a similar basis to the above.
